ABSTRACT

This course of study was written as part of a total effort to revise curriculum to fit the quinmester administrative organization of Miami schools. The major intent is to provide a broad framework of goals and objectives, content, teaching strategies, class activities, and materials all related to a prescribed course of study. The guide is divided into: (1) a broad goals section, which provides descriptive and goal-oriented information for the teacher; (2) a content outline, which illustrates, in general terms, the scope and major subdivisions of the course; (3) objectives and learning activities, which provide a total picture of the main idea and specific behavioral objectives for a set of given learning activities; and, (4) materials section, which presents guide lists resources in four categories: essential textual or other material; alternate classroom materials to use in place of or in addition to the aforementioned; supplementary teacher resources; and, supplementary student resources. INTRODUCTION

This course of study was written as a part of a total effort to revise curriculum to fit the quinmester administrative organization of schools. The materials and information in this guide are meant to be neither all-inclusive nor prescriptive; but rather, an aide to teachers as they plan instructional programs, taking into account student needs and characteristics, available resources, and other factors.

The major intent of this publication is to provide a broad framework of goals and objectives, content, teaching strategies, class activities, and materials all related to a described course of study. Teachers may then accept the model framework in total or draw ideas from it to incorporate into their lessons.

The guide is divided into 1) a broad goals section, 2) a content outline, 3) objectives and learning activities, and 4) materials. The first section provides descriptive and goal-oriented information for the teacher; "indicators of success" refers to suggested prerequisite or corequisite experiences. The content outline illustrates, in general terms, the scope and major subdivisions of the course. The objectives and learning activities section, hopefully, provides a total picture of the concept or main idea and specific behavioral objectives for a set of given learning activities. The materials section of the guide lists resources in four categories: essential textual or other material; alternate classroom materials to use in place of or in addition to the aforementioned; supplementary teacher resources; and supplementary student resources. The appendix may include other material appropriate for a specific course: e.g., pretests, readings, vocabulary, etc.

Anyone having recommendations relating to this publication is urged to write them down and send to : Social Studies Office, Room 306, Lindsey Hopkins, A-1.

Develop the assignment: "Suppose you are a black person arguing before the Supreme Court for the right to live in any section of the city." Use the Constitution to write an argument to convince the Court. 1. Form a committee to investigate the meaning of Black Power. (Such books as Carmichael and Hamilton's Black Power, Nathan Wright's Black Power and Unrest, and Martin Luther King's Where We Go From Here: Chaos or Community? are excellent sources of reference.) Have the committee report to the class in a panel discussion. 2. Direct students in preparing a debate involving the different opinions expressed concerning Black Power as held by such people as Marcus Garvey, Martin Luther King, Jr., Malcolm X, and Stokely Carmichael. 3. Discuss the revolutionary mood and tactics of such groups as the Black Panthers and point out the role played by their leaders, i.e. Huey Newton, H. Rap Brown, Eldridge Cleaver, Bobby Seale and Angela Davis. Emphasize the fact that revolutionary groups constitute a very small percentage of the minority culture. 4. View and discuss the film: Black and White Uptight (1-31809)

GOAL 8: THE STUDENT WILL IDENTIFY CONTRIBUTIONS BY BLACKS TO MANY AREAS OF HUMAN ACHIEVEMENT IN THE UNITED STATES, FLORIDA, AND DADE COUNTY.

FOCUS	OBJECTIVE	LEARNING ACTIVITIES
VI. I. CULTURAL CONTRIBUTIONS	A. The student will identify the significant contributions made by Blacks in Art and Music.	1. Make a bulletin board display of the following Blacks and direct students to research the contributions of each individual listed below. <table><tr><td>Louis Armstrong</td><td>Julian "Cannonball" Adderly</td></tr><tr><td>Marian Anderson</td><td>Mahalia Jackson</td></tr><tr><td>Paul Robeson</td><td>Aretha Franklin</td></tr><tr><td>W.C. Handy</td><td>Leontyne Price</td></tr><tr><td>Charles White</td><td>Jimmie Hendrix</td></tr><tr><td>Edmonia Lewis</td><td>Augusta Savage</td></tr><tr><td>Henry O.
